

Sustainability and Historic Homes

People are frequently concerned about the perceived conflict between preservation of historic resources, and today's desires for sustainable, low-carbon footprint living. The truth is, there doesn't have to be a conflict. What is more sustainable than re-using an old house? And with the resources listed on this page, a historic home can be made efficient and sustainable without compromising its historic integrity.

Web Links

Green Roofs on Historic HomesEnergy Efficiency/Weatherizing Historic HomesSustainability Case Studies
Weatherization Guide for Historic HomesEnergy Efficiency in Historic Commercial Buildings

Source URL (retrieved on 2015-02-01 06:50):

<http://www.ci.independence.or.us/historic/sustainability-and-historic-homes>